Terms and Conditions

Acceptance as a Clean Utah Entry Level participant entitles the facility to technical assistance in developing an EMS and to designation on the DEQ website and other publicity as one who is interested in and has started the Clean Utah process. This application is voluntary and the participant may withdraw at any time for any reason.

Each Clean Utah Entry Level participant will develop and implement an Environmental Management System (EMS). Several EMS models currently exist, including ISO-14001, and the applicant is free to select the model which best meets the facility's circumstances. Any model selected must include each of the 12 components outlined in the Clean Utah policy. (Available on line at www.deq.utah.gov/cleanutah)

To remain in the program, an EMS must be completed and operational within two years of being accepted into the program. Those who desire to move onto the Partner Level must document that the EMS has been implemented for one full cycle. In addition, two projects designed to significantly reduce or prevent pollution must be proposed. Ideally, these projects should be based on aspects identified in the EMS process. (Additional information is available online.)

Clean Utah participants agree to make commercially reasonable efforts to remain in compliance with applicable environmental regulations. Failure to do so may be grounds for removal.
